

News From

JACK DOYLE

MONROE COUNTY EXECUTIVE

For Immediate Release

Tuesday, July 18, 2000

DOYLE WELCOMES HICKEY-FREEMAN / BOBBY JONES STORE TO AIRPORT

Local Clothier Opens Factory Airport Store

Monroe County Executive Jack Doyle today cut the ribbon on the new Hickey-Freeman / Bobby Jones Factory Airport Store. The County Executive welcomed this latest addition to the county's Greater Rochester International Airport (GRIA).

"Enhanced amenities are one way we can achieve our goal of offering greater service to business and leisure travelers at the airport," said Doyle. "I am very pleased that we could attract a local company like Hickey-Freeman to do business at the airport and I am confident that they will thrive in this location."

The Hickey-Freeman Company was started in Rochester by Jacob Freeman and Jeremiah Hickey in 1899. The Bobby Jones Sportswear Collection was introduced by the company in 1988 and was named after golf legend Robert Tyre Jones.

The new Hickey-Freeman / Bobby Jones Factory Airport Store will appeal to all travelers by offering the finest in both business attire and sportswear.

The County Executive was joined by Hickey-Freeman executives Paulette Garafalo, group president; and Chris Linares, vice president; for the ribbon cutting and grand opening.

#

For more information, call:

Communications and Special Events at 428-2380

See us on the web at www.co.monroe.ny.us

